Your QCard will be charged at the time of shipment.

We requested authorization from the financial institution that issued your card for the transaction amount for your order.* Although you haven't been charged, these funds are being reserved within your account to ensure your order can be processed and charged upon shipment. This is known as an authorization or transaction hold. If your order is cancelled, the time required to remove this authorization or transaction hold is determined by the financial institution that issued your card and could range from 3 to 7 days from the day of authorization.

* If you ordered an Advanced Sale item, then instead of a request for authorization for the transaction amount for your order, a request for a minimal authorization amount ($0.00 - $1.00) was reserved by the financial institution that issued your card at the time your order was placed. The full amount will not be charged until the time of shipment.
